Have you ever wondered what it would be like to have a heart transplant? Would you still be the same person as before or would you become more like the donor that gave you your new heart? For My Donor follows one patients journey to understand if they have taken on any of the characteristics of their organ donor, and to finally meet the family that gave the 'gift of life'. Over the course of a year, Mark investigates some of the stories that seem to suggest that transplanted organs can really store memories, a theory called 'cellular memory'. Slowly becoming more and more obsessed by his own donor, life starts to become more of a struggle until the final, emotional meeting with a family is played out. Does 'cellular memory' really exist and what

This compilation of poems is rolled out as one long poem which spans the journey of the spiritual growth of an adulterous woman in a nation spinning, while facing unspeakable adversity with grace and love. It also deals with individual spiritual growth and transferring love from a man to God, and also with National Politics in the USA and the threat of ISIS. It is not only poetry, but also draws influence from "Spoken Word" traditions. In the Afterword you will find a treasure of a Christian Testimony in the form of another Poem by

Eventually, I started opening my mind to the possibility that if the good Lord had permitted so and so to happen, despite intercessory prayer, there was a reason for it and it was His Will. I still didn't like it; so, He minister, Lev Solokov is elected. In spite of his Russian surname, he is the charismatic politician who, on the surface, appears to be just what Britain needs. But he's not what Gavin needs. Gavin is a Pustoy, a human who, among countless others, Solokov's researchers has declared a soulless, subhuman race. Solokov Really devoid of a soul?

More importantly, how far away is this future, really? Phillippe Blenkiron's conceptual poetry collection demands these questions of the reader, whilst offering an unflinching examination of the human psyche, exploring the clouded moral hues between black and white,
