Agnosticism today is often seen as a safe option, and yet the essay with that title, reproduced here, does not make comfortable reading for a Christian. The "question as to what Jesus really said and did is strictly a scientific problem" and Christians cannot even say who wrote the Gospels, let alone when, nor can the average churchgoer identify the many "additions and interpolations" made by "literary fabricators".

The Difference Between Agnosticism and Atheism. Atheism, according to its classical definition, is the lack of belief in God. (Whether that "God" is the biblical, Judeo-Christian God or some other "higher power" is a separate question.) The opposite of atheism is theism, the belief that God exists.
