About this book. Transcription factors are - in the most common use of the term - proteins that possess sequence-specific DNA-binding activity, and either directly or indirectly influence the transcription of genes in proximity to the binding site. Transcription factors are the primary interface between the cell and the genome, and in aggregate control not only regulation of transcription but also genome organization, and play a central role in many aspects of physiology and evolution.

NF-kB (nuclear factor kappa-light-chain-enhancer of activated B cells) is a protein complex that controls transcription of DNA, cytokine production and cell survival. NF-kB is found in almost all animal cell types and is involved in cellular responses to stimuli such as stress, cytokines , free radicals , heavy metals , ultraviolet irradiation , oxidized LDL , and bacterial or viral antigens .
